best professor ever, very detailed and gives so much knowledge and information about topics all is good
I enjoyed all classes. Avinash can teach this in his sleep!!!
Encouraging questions for more difficult material and provides us other resources such as the textbook or other websites for further learning and understanding.
Answering my questions, providing explanations and giving useful feedback on the assignments.
In various ways, he was always there to help me. I'm not the brightest student but he always help me with one on one session to give me technique to prepare for better notes and learning skills he is so helpful and kind Explaining concepts well and providing reviews when needed motivating us and he also provides course material to study and also help us Offering helpful learning resources to learn the various topics.

the only thing is that there is a bite to much intermingling of pathophysiology and anatomy and physiology where it confuses me a little on what i need to know for anatomy and physiology and what i need to know for pathophysiology Make videos for all the nursing courses!! so we can pre-watch them before attending class. eg) for pharmacology :)
Giving more everyday examples in class.
I think he's best what he does. I wish I was able to take him andfor all my classes he respond to our emails on time, overall best teacher i had this professor last semester as well Getting through the content in a timely manner each week, covering all the things we need to know and will be evaluated on.

What recommendation(s) would you make to improve this course?

Comments
none, it is perfect
no improvement of the course itself
Thanks!! have a great summer –Teresa
To have more classes so teaching can go at a bit slower pace, because some of the students were not able to follow the matter.
Personally, it's really nice there's no adjustment that needs to be made
Make the slideshows more organized where it allows students to know what they need to study and apply, having it laid out with the accurate information which we will be evaluated on.
